

Auburn University Collegiate FFA

Premier Agriculture Workshop

What is PAWS?

PAWS is a day-long workshop presented by the Auburn University Collegiate FFA Chapter to bring alive the FFA mission statement for students by "developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth, and career success through agriculture education." This powerful conference is guaranteed to be a great way for students to engage outside the classroom and learn more about leadership while having fun! The theme for this year's conference is "Reality Rocks!"

Where is it held?

PAWS is presented and held at a central location in each of the FFA districts: North, Central, and South. Specific locations will be identified when registration is emailed out at least one month in advance of conference date.

When is it?

Dates for 2009-2010 have been scheduled:

North District-	October 9, 2009
Central District-	November 13, 2009
South District-	February 26th from 8am-1pm at Troy University.

How can I attend?

If you are middle or high school FFA member, complete the registration form emailed to your chapter advisor, and return it by the registration deadline! We look forward to seeing you!
